Energy Audits

By replacing your old lighting with the latest low-energy alternative, every time you switch on you are effectively saving money... but could you be saving more?

It costs absolutely nothing to find out.

Alpha Lighting, in association with a leading energy broker, can arrange for an Energy Consultant to visit your premises and discuss your energy costs – and help you discover if there are cheaper alternatives.

For small and medium-sized companies, we offer a simple comparison service against your existing energy provider – examining both the price you are paying and the method of payment.

For large companies, we compare your current consumption against supply profiles from existing energy suppliers and potential alternative sources – identifying the most cost effective means of meeting all your requirements.

For multi-site customers, we collate details from all sites to examine economies of scale and prepare a collective price.

The Energy Audit is free and impartial and involves no commitment on your behalf.

We act almost like a mortgage broker, tendering your energy supply to all the energy companies, negotiating the best possible financials and contract terms – ensuring that you get the best possible energy deal.

Should you decide to act further on the information we provide, our aim would be to provide you with a hassle-free, high-quality Energy Management Service, offering a range of other services, such as bill validation, and ongoing advice and practical support in all aspects of energy.
